OPPORTUNITIES TO GROW AND DEVELOP

Hardships, disappointments, and confusion were a few of the problems which Sunset students faced this year--carpenters pounding on classroom walls during school hours and sawing during assemblies, and the absence of a senior class. Despite these, Sunset saw many accomplishments. Our athletic squads entered varsity competition, and the students took a great share of wins in speech tournaments. The year witnessed the formation of many clubs as the result of growing student participation, sportsmanship, and leadership.

STUDENTS ARRIVE EARLY TO START BUSY SCHEDULE

Buses arrive as early as 7:00 A.M. to bring students to school. The bus pictured above is one of the sixteen that furnishes the transportation for Sunset students. Each bus travels, on the average, ninety-five miles per day.

Two runs are made in the morning, after which Apollos begin their busy day. Three runs are made in the afternoon, which include the activity buses. Activity runs are also made to different events at other schools.

STUDENTS TAKE ADVANTAGE OF THE ENRICHED PROGRAM

In the absorption of their daily schedule, Apollos may take various elective courses as well as a seventh subject in order to take advantage of the enriched program.

As the building nears completion, more facilities are made available to students, and in some cases offer more opportunities for learning.

The three lunch periods bring each student a welcome break during the middle of the day. A hot lunch, a la carte, or snack can be purchased, depending upon the desire and appetite of the individual. About 600 students buy their lunch.

APOLLOS PARTICIPATE IN VARIOUS ACTIVITIES

Activities portrayed a very important part in the life of the students. These included those for learning, competing, and others for enjoyment. The Apollos set many standards in the Metro League. Some of these were in sports, speech, publications, and music activities. Experience and knowledge were gained through such activities as student council, regional conferences, field trips, and club activities. Others that were enjoyed were assemblies, dances, and concerts.

STUDENT CENTER OFFERS PLACE TO STUDY AND VISIT

Students were seen studying in many places of the building. A favorite spot of many seemed to be the student center, where Apollos studied in groups and were able to hold many discussions. Other places were the cafeteria, the library, and various classrooms.

CLASS REPRESENTATIVES STUDY SCHOOL PROBLEMS

The executive assembly, under the leadership of the President of the student body, was faced with many problems. In order to further their knowledge of student government, they attended the Fall and Winter, Region III Conferences. The issue of having a foreign exchange student and sending one of our students abroad was tackled by them by having the Foreign Exchange Student Drive. This drive included selling slave bonds by students to people who wanted to have an hour's work done. The executive assembly was fortunate in being able to have the Spring Region III Conference held here at Sunset.

The legislative assembly, under the leadership of the Vice President of the student body, discussed and worked on many school problems. Representatives to the assembly were elected from their nine o'clock class and attended meetings where they voiced the opinions of their respective classes on certain school business. Many suggestions, which were offered as to amending the constitution were taken to the representatives' classes where they voted on them. The results were taken back to the legislative assembly and then referred to the student body.

ACTIVITIES BY LEAGUES GENERATE ENTHUSIASM

Boys' and Girls' Leagues meetings were planned to inform the students of all the service projects—past and future. There was also planned entertainment for their enjoyment. These meetings have guest speakers on different subjects for both boys and girls. The Leagues were set up to help the students of Sunset become leaders of our community and country.

Some of the services done by the Girls' League were: putting on dances, selling pickles and doughnuts. The money from the doughnut sale went to the Foreign Exchange Student Fund. The Boys' League also donated money to this fund which was earned from their service projects.

RALLY SQUADS CREATE SPIRIT DURING THE YEAR

The eight girls who made up the Frosh and JV rally squads were a very vigorous group. When they appeared at games, they glowed with spirit. Their vitality stimulated the participation of all the students who attended the games.

SCROLL, DOLPHIN HAVE FIRST PRINTED ISSUES

The Dolphin staff was successful this year in editing two fine publications. The first edition went on sale in December and the second in May. These consisted of stories of all types, ranging from humorous to serious, and including satires, tall tales, biographical sketches, folk tales, narratives, and mood portrayals.

The Dolphin is in its second year of existence. Last year the Dolphin contained 50 pages of stories, essays, book reviews, and poetry selections mimeographed on yellow paper. This year they were printed on glossy white paper, and were approximately 50 page volumes containing original student manuscripts. The cover was a white symbolic representation of a Dolphin against a sun on a purple background.

This year's officers were: Sherry Plant and Pat Kielblock, co-editors; Doug Potter, Sally Haimo, Illustrations editors; Louis Larson, Distribution Manager; Doris Shelley, Sigrid Eckholm, Copy Editors; Alice Knutson, Sally Mallicoat, Publicity Managers, and Cheri Jensen and Diana Kleiner, Business Managers.

The Scroll Staff was presented with added problems in publishing the first newsprint school newspaper of Sunset High School. The new problems of the year were: being situated in a temporary journalism room, and the loss of their advisor, Mrs. Cooper, when she was needed most to aid the staff in putting out the first issue of the year. Because of Mrs. Cooper's illness, Karlyn Mattson, Miss Oregon, and former Editor of the Beaverton High School "Hummer," advised the members through their hardships in putting out the very first issue.

The staff also saw many changes in publishing their newspaper. They wanted to improve news stories, have a better voice of the Student Body, and to obtain interesting features. The Scroll Staff were cautious of these changes while working with their four page edition which the Valley News published bi-weekly.

This year's Scroll Staff consisted of four page editors. Connie Kolberg was responsible for page one; Helen Hill page two, Cliff Koch, page three, and George Stankey, page four. These editors had the responsibility of going to the Valley News to make the final arrangements a day before the paper came out. Other officers were: Cliff Koch, Editor; Kathy Underwood, Business Manager; and Sherri Mattson, Circulation Editor.

YEARBOOK STAFF STRIVES TO MEET DEADLINE

The job of meeting a deadline was always a difficult task for the members of the Apollo staff. They brought forth many creative and novel ideas, which proved they wanted to publish a yearbook of which the student body would be proud.

Producing an annual holds many difficult tasks. Pasting pictures, writing copy and headlines, and proofreading are a few of the ones which kept the Apollo staff busy before the 2:30 bell rang.

Advisor, Mr. Titus, gives Jeanne Wismer, Editor, and John Hall, Business Manager, a few helpful hints.

Susan Ehlen and Diane Werner are busy working on the finishing touches to meet a deadline.

LANGUAGE CLUBS PROMOTE LEARNING OF CUSTOMS AND

Francamis, consisting of first, second, and third year French students, has had a busy year participating in a well-planned activity program. Their candidate, Dennis Ingram, was crowned Apollo II at the annual La Festsdanski dance. A banquet was held to welcome new members in November, and entertainment was provided by Jerry Reynolds, who showed slides and talked about his trip around the world. The second semester officers were installed at the February meeting, and Anne Wachs, a French girl who is living in this area sponsored by the American Field Service program, also gave a talk. Other monthly meetings included interesting speakers, such as, Mrs. Duncan, who spoke about her European trip, and an amusing play which was presented by the third year students. First and second semester officers were, respectively:

With a recently written and approved constitution, and officers elected in December, Germania, the new German club, started its busy program. The purpose of Germania is to increase students' knowledge and understanding of the country whose language they are learning; and with that in mind, Vice President John Hall, program chairman, arranged for the visit of Dr. Franz Langhammer, native German, at the March meeting. Germania members sponsored the "Emancipation Proclamation" also in March. Officers for the year were: Mark Greathouse, President; John Hall, Vice President; Sally Haimo, Secretary; Eric Christoferson, Treasurer; Carol Vernon, Reporter.

SPEAKING OF LANGUAGES FROM THEIR COUNTRIES

The purpose of Amiguitos is designed to give students who are taking Spanish a chance to learn more about the language and customs of the Spanish speaking people. Speakers at regular meetings included Eduardo and Gonzalo Vasquez, exchange students from Mexico, and Mrs. Whitlock from Cuba, who talked about Cuba today, plus many other interesting features. A Christmas party was also held which was complete with the piñata and traditional songs. Besides the meetings, Amiguitos held a banquet for the induction of new members where the parents of both old and new members attended with Mr. Russell as special guest. A carnival, which was similar to Mardi-Gras was also held in March.

The Latin club, Decurion, is open to all students who are taking Latin. For its meetings the membership attempts to obtain films and slides of classical nature which would be of interest to all students who are taking Latin. They obtain an outside speaker at least once a year. Mrs. Duncan, who teaches French and German, was this year's speaker, and she showed interesting slides of her trip in Italy. They also sponsored the technicolor film, "Helen of Troy," which was very well received by those desiring a background on the Trojan Wars.

PURPLE MASQUE WINS FIRST TROPHY FOR SUNSET

Linda Laufer proudly displays Sunset's first first trophy.

The Purple Masque, an organization made up of students interested in drama and speech, was one of the most active clubs in the school. The Speech Department made many trips to various schools for tournaments this year. One of the first trips taken by this group was a practice tournament to Woodrow Wilson High School. First place winners from Sunset were: Jerry Babcock, poetry; Marianne Hune and Sherri Mattson, humorous; Mike Hart and Brenda Pruett, serious. The school was also represented at the Pacific University Tournament on December 4th and 5th. Thirty-three different schools participated.

On January 28th, 29th, and 30th, Sunset, along with 31 other schools, entered a tournament at the University of Portland. Finalists at this tournament were: Tom Smock, Kathy Pennington, Lynne Hughes, and Lynda Laufer.

Sunset played host to more than 100 students in the Metro League District Meet on Saturday, March 26.

Sunset's first trophy was won by Lynda Laufer of the Speech Department. She participated in

SCIENCE CLUBS INVESTIGATE SCIENTIFIC FIELDS

The Sophomore-Junior Science club, advised by Mr. Travis Cavens, has conducted many projects. They successfully sponsored the Science Fair under the chairmanship of John Hall and the leadership of Bob Amos, president. They also had Doctor Davis Malcolm of Portland State who spoke on career opportunities in science. A field trip was made to Esco, a steel company in Portland, and to the University of Oregon Medical School. Among other interesting projects, a Rube Goldberg session in which members brought odd bits of machinery to design apparatus for such nonsensical things as automatically chewing gum, was also held.

Dispensing with their regularly scheduled meetings, the Radio-Electronics club utilized their time in lab sessions by conducting experimental projects, such as, repairing radio equipment, high fidelity sets, and testing instruments. The club, under the guidance of Mr. Ralph Stoffer, had access to a well-equipped laboratory where students were able to conduct their experiments under the most favorable conditions.

THE CHOIR, ENSEMBLE AND BAND RECEIVE HIGH

This year the choir and the ensemble have practiced diligently to become very commendable singing groups. They have branched out into the field of jazz besides their usual repertoire of hymns, ballads and humorous songs. During the year they made visits to the various outlying gradeschools of Ridgewood, Cedar Mill, Sunset Valley, Cedar Hills and Aloha and presented concerts. They have also attended different Metro League concerts. This spring they participated in the Spring concert and were greatly admired. Also, they put on a very fine performance of the operetta, Trial by Jury by Gilbert and Sullivan.

The choir and ensemble made great strides in technique this season and had a very successful year.

The dance band has been experimenting with different types of dance music and has become very good at jazz. It has played at school functions including the Sadie Hawkins Dance. Through the year the band and dance band have shown much improvement and have been commended for their fine performance.

The Fire Squad meets once every three weeks to discuss proper methods of fire safety and analyse any mistakes or commendable points they may have made.

The Lettermen's Club was newly organized this year. Its purpose is to serve the school at various sports contests and to promote interest in sports and good sportsmanship. It is open to students who earned a letter in one or more sports.

The Future Nurses Club was active this year in service projects, going on field trips, and sponsoring speakers to lecture them. The members learned of the requirements and opportunities in the field of nursing and how to serve their community.

The Junior Red Cross is a service club that serves the community in such ways as visiting Nursing Homes, giving parties for disabled children, and making favors for hospital trays. They have found that working for others is fun.

Junior Red Cross Advisor, Mr. Veldhuisen pauses with Evelyn Haase, Susan Egan, Secretary, and Tim Jones, President to discuss new ideas for club activities and service projects. ACADEMICS

ACADEMICS PAVE WAY TO FUTURE SUCCESS

Scholarly Apollos became versed in the variety of subjects offered by Sunset this year. New courses such as shorthand, electronics, and Russian were introduced into the curriculum as Sunset's teaching staff acquired twenty-two new members.

The school library has managed to expand itself to meet the growing needs of the student body which now numbers 887. It now maintains an increasingly larger variety and number of books and subscribes to several dozen newspapers and magazines for student use.

BUSINESS ARTS SERVE AS BASIS FOR VOCATIONS

Many of Sunset's students enrolled in typing classes taught by Mr. Box and Mrs. Palmer to prepare themselves for future secretarial work or to develop this valuable skill for personal use.

Mrs. Palmer also instructed a class in shorthand. Students develop this skill for its value in secretarial work and the great speed at which it can be used in taking notes.

APPLIED ARTS DEVELOP MANUAL DEXTERITY

Shelley McIntyre, Dianne McCord, Meffie Meyer, and Laura Waner from Mrs. Chesebro's home economics classes demonstrate their culinary skill. The girls learned the essentials of keeping a home throughout the year.

In addition to acquiring a knowledge of the production and types of lumber, Mr. Tomaskie's woodshop classes constructed many projects this year. Many students constructed book racks and tables and the class also finished a hi-fidelity speaker unit. Usually, students design their own projects.

Arts and crafts students experimented with varied projects under the guidance of Miss Kennedy, a new member of Sunset's faculty. Representative of their projects are metal etching, leatherwork and the construction of Christmas Decorations.

Frustration, chaos, and excitement were only a few of the terms used this year by perplexed students of CBA chemistry. Tom Gill, sophomore, scratches his face in a moment of puzzlement. Watching him are Jeneane Davis and Carter Brundage.

SUNSET SEES INITIATION OF CBA CHEMISTRY COURSE

Sunset was one of nine high schools in the United States which participated in the experimental Chemical Bond Approach Chemistry program. The course is sponsored under grant from the National Science Foundation. The course stresses the how and why of chemical changes and uses the chemical bond as its central core. About one hundred sophomores and juniors were enrolled.

Jerry Harpster and Eric Christoferson, CBA students, demonstrate distillation apparatus used in an experiment on the evaluation of commercial vinegar.

Phyllis Huntley, junior, was awarded first honors (upper physical) for her project on buffer action, the transport of carbon dioxide to the lungs. Andrea MacTarnahan, freshman, received first honors (biological) for her project on the benefits of aeration on water culture.

103 ENTRIES SUPPORT SCIENCE OPEN HOUSE

Sunset held its first annual Science Open House on February 12th and 13th in the science classrooms. First place projects were displayed in the student center. Winners included: honorable mention, Larry Weaver, Jan Warner, Jerry Landye, Nan Jean Sutfin; third place, Clare Van Buren, Bill Rosenfeld, Don Ziegler, Ned Sunderland; second place, Steve Cohen, Krista Hansen, Royal Skousen, Jeff Senders, Margot Helzer; first place, Phyllis Huntley, Roger Leo, Andrea MacTarnahan, Chuck Hoffman.

Chuck Hoffman, freshman, received first honors (lower physical) for his project on how gamma rays penetrate objects. Roger Leo, freshman, was awarded first honors (biological) for his project on brain control and muscle contraction in rats.

Junior boys spent several weeks on a unit on basketball. Fundamental skills, plays, and rules were included in the unit.

P. E. PROGRAM INCLUDES INSTRUCTION IN MANY SKILLS

Sunset's diversified physical education program included just about every sport possible this year. Archery, tennis, track, baseball, football, basketball, wrestling, weight lifting, and tumbling were only a few of the skills taught. Next year with the completion of the swimming pool, this skill will also be added.

Among the many physical activities engaged in by the sophomore P.E. classes was this co-educational dancing program.

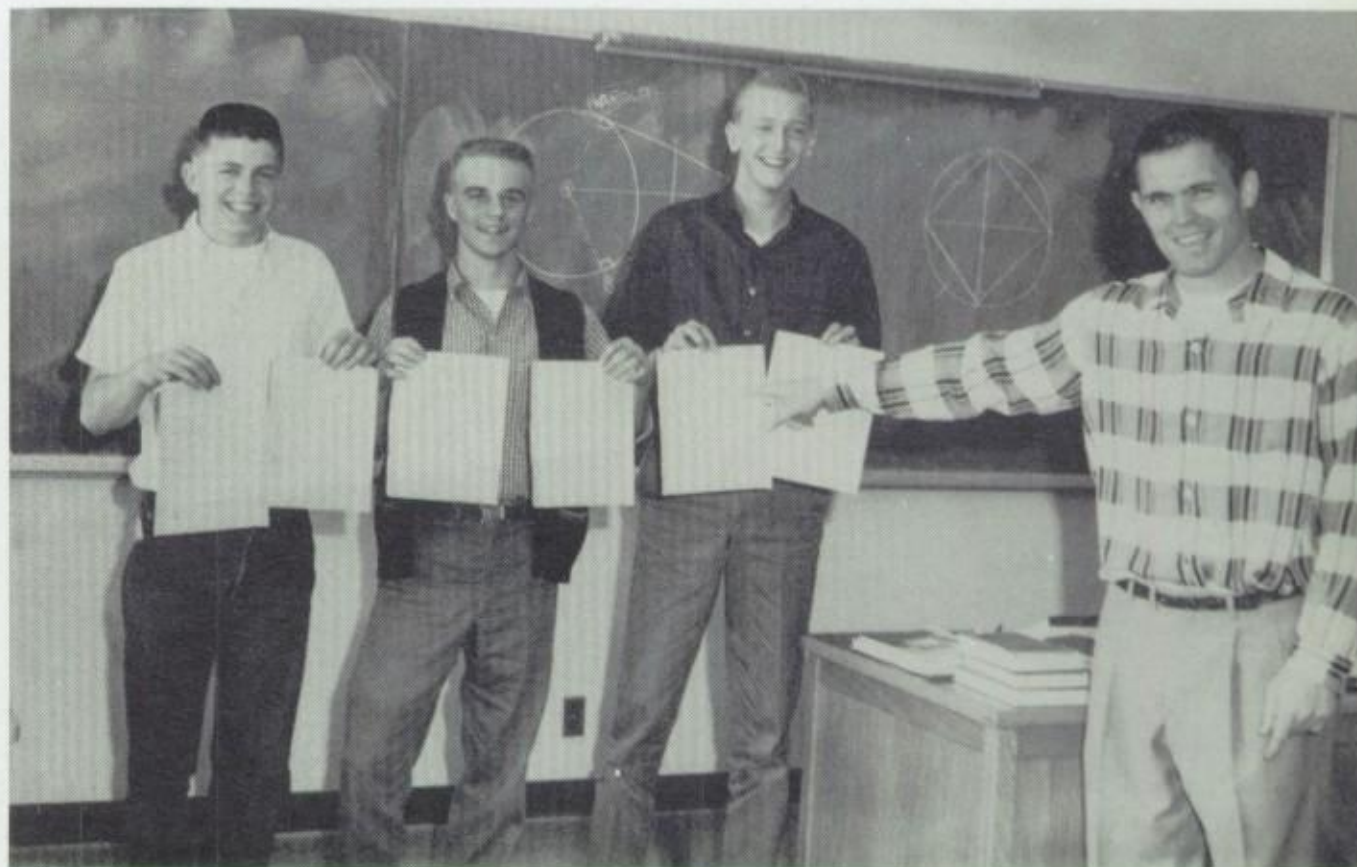

Mr. Acheson uses the Overhead Projector to illustrate a problem to his Trigonometry class.

MATH CLASSES INTRODUCED TO NEW TECHNIQUES

The Math classes, consisting of General Math, Algebra, Geometry, and Trigonometry were introduced to many new techniques during the course of the year.

One of these techniques was the use of the Overhead Projector. This machine was used to enlarge a problem and enable the instructor to speak directly to the class while using the machine.

Harold Bayley, Dennis Landers, and Bob Wollmuth hold display pages, while Mr. Clock explains the binomial number system.

FOREIGN LANGUAGE STUDENTS JOINTLY

Susan Clark, Bill Johnson, Jim Stanley and Alice Knutson select special records for use in their French class.

These energetic Latin students vie for honors in weekly tests.

The Russian custom of women shaking hands when greeting each other is demonstrated by Suzy Noble and Judy Wilson. Gary St. Clair and Terry Lash smile their approval.

PRESENT MEMORABLE CHRISTMAS ASSEMBLY

Bruce Granquist and Pam Hyde learn the correct procedure for selling merchandise in Spanish.

The foreign language classes joined together to present the student body with an enjoyable and memorable Christmas assembly. Each class, with the exception of Russian, sang Silent Night in their respective language and a traditional Christmas carol of their country. The Russian students were in charge of the assembly.

Another project sponsored by students of foreign languages was the annual La Festdanski. At this dance Dennis Ingram was crowned King Apollo II. Spanish and German were in charge of decorations; French students, the coronation; Russian, advertising; and Latin students, refreshments.

First year German students practice taking dictation at the blackboard.

WIN OVER DAVID DOUGLAS HIGHLIGHTS APOLLO SEASON

Under the capable leadership of coaches Mr. Miner, Mr. Clock, and Mr. Valett, the Junior Varsity squad gained valuable experience while winning seven out of eight league games, and losing only to Milwaukie 13 to 7. The Apollos tied for first with Centennial for the mythical Metro-League title.

The Minermen showed their tremendous power by holding their opponents to 63 points while scoring 191. The JV's had an average of 21 points per game while keeping 7 as an average for the opponents. Leading scorers for the season were Maust and Carlin scoring seven touchdowns each. They were followed by Stassens, Ingram, Thomas, Sivers, Paulson, Rasmussen, Landers, and Cady. The team's rushing power is illustrated by the 2,144 yards gain by the Apollos, against the 1,528 yards gained by their opponents.

The year's major highlights were the wins over David Douglas and Beaverton. The spirit of the game with the Beavers was high as the Apollos fought against the rival Beavers. The spirit of the team was only equaled by the spirit of the spectators. The Douglas game was an important game to win. The Scots were playing their Varsity team minus the Senior players. This same team went on to win the Metro-League title.

With the desire and the skill displayed by the team this year, the Apollos should have little trouble in finding a place for themselves in the Metro-League next year.

The frosh learned their basic skills in high school football from coaches Mr. Ramsdell and Mr. Davidson. These skills, blocking, tackling, and passing, will further help them in the years to come in JV and Varsity football. The frosh played with the spirit necessary to develop good sportsmen. The team showed their spirit in the way that they played their games, although they did not always win them. They completed the year with a four win and three loss record.

GRAPPLERS REPRESENTED AT STATE TOURNAMENT

Sunset's matmen rounded out the year with two wins, one tie, and eight losses. Weight forfeits was the familiar cry of the grapplers. Head coach was Mike Clock and his assistant was Bryan Valett.

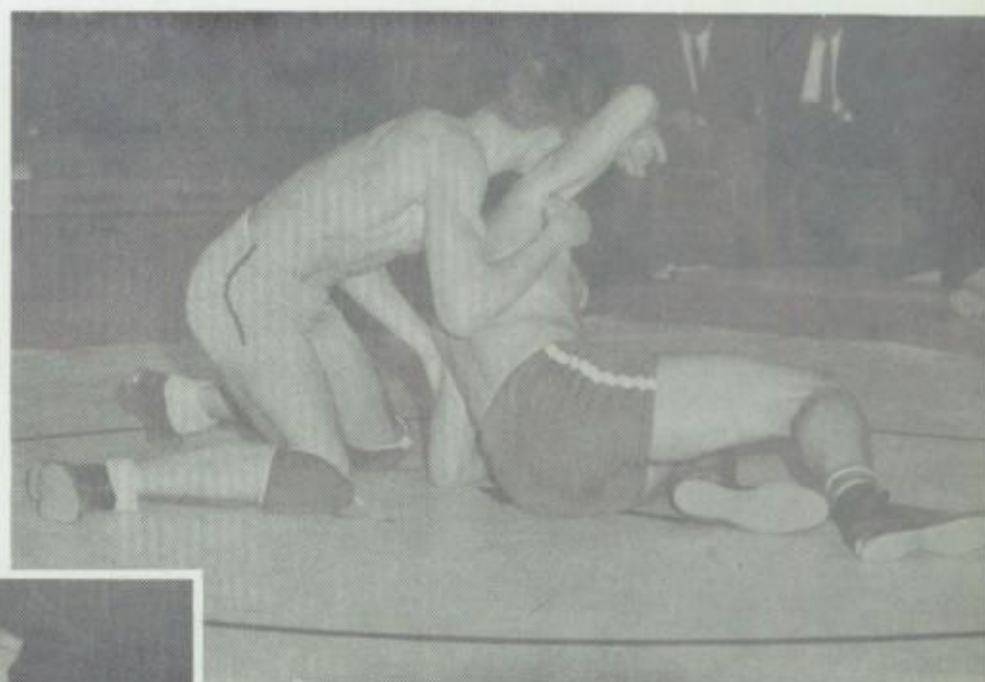

Morry Grosse, junior, was able to qualify for the state tournament during the district match held at Lewis and Clark College. At the state tournament he won his first two matches. The first was by a pin and the second by a decision. In the finals he lost his match 6-2 to the 123 pound state champion. This was by a decision, and was partially due to a swollen and blackened hand acquired in his first matches.

CROSS COUNTRY AND GOLF TEAMS VIE FOR HONORS

The cross country team, advised by Mr. Duncan, supplements the regular track season with competition in the fall. This year they placed seventh in the Metro-League competition.

The cindermen's races take place over various kinds of terrain ranging from the cinder track to fields and the open highway.

The golf team is also advised by Mr. Duncan and they meet every Saturday under his supervision. They strive to improve their stance, swing and control of the ball. During these Saturday practices the team members compete among themselves to see who will compete in the match the following week.

Under the guidance of Mr. Duncan these sports are gaining more and more popularity at Sunset.

ACTIVITIES

League presidents, Kathy Mehl and Ron McKay, examine the barrels after the Canned Foods Drive.

COMPETITIVE DRIVES ENCOURAGE PARTICIPATION

Sunset students were successful in beating their rival, Beaverton, in the World Week Clothing Drive. Apollos bettered the Beavers record of 2.7 pounds per person with their record of 3.1 pounds per person.

The Canned Foods Drive, in which the leagues competed, was won by the Girls' League. The food contributed was donated to the Washington County Hospital. The juniors won the March of Dimes class competition by contributing $114. The sophomores were close with their contribution of $107. The freshmen contributed $65.

Charles Clark and Wes Brown take an energetic interest while weighing clothes for the World Week Clothing Drive.

French classes portray the Nativity Scene to represent one of the phases of "Christmas Abroad."

SERIOUSNESS AND MERRYMAKING DURING ASSEMBLIES

Reverend Brueckner from St. Matthew Lutheran Church delivers Thanksgiving message to entire student body.

The combined efforts of students helped to present various assemblies for the student body.

The more serious occasions offered insight, understanding and knowledge to the students; whereas, the humorous assemblies added to the spirits of the Apollos.

Some of the more memorable assemblies were: Beaverton's student body president, Slava Luvomudrov, sweeping the gym floor as a result of losing the World Clothing Week Drive. The lighted cross, made by approximately 250 members of the foreign language classes in the Christmas assembly, and the many novelty yells presented by the rally squad during the pep assemblies.

Many original ideas were displayed during the week of campaigning for student body offices.

PROPEL THE SPIRITS OF STUDENTS AND FACULTY

During one of the pep assemblies, Kathy Mehl, Kathy Pennington, Wes Brown, Terry McGettigan, members of student council, demonstrated through a skit, the qualifications needed to become a student body officer.

Mr. Davidson presents certificates of participation to members of the frosh football team during the awards assembly.

LEAGUES SPONSOR FUND RAISING EVENTS

Representing Boys' League are: Ken Johnson, Dick Miller, David Steward and Mike Phibbs, who are frequently seen at the concession stand at all home basketball games and wrestling matches.

The fathers, who attended the Father-Daughter Banquet sponsored by Girls' League, seem to be enjoying a skit presented by members of the League.

The play was presented on April 21st and 22nd in a novel way. The "Theater in the Round", was given in the drama room, which seats approximately 160 persons.

The cast consisted of representatives from each of the three classes.

After presenting the play to the public, it was given before the drama departments of Hillsboro and Beaverton.

SLAVE DRIVE BRINGS AFS PROGRAM TO SUNSET

To enable the student body to bring a foreign exchange student to Sunset next year, the Student Council sponsored a Slave Labor Week.

With the money earned the students could not only participate in the American Field Service program but also help to send a Sunset student abroad.

The bonds were sold for one dollar in exchange for one hour of the students' time, or sold as a friendship donation.

These energetic slaves, Maika Bielitzer, Marcia Horner, Leslie Taylor, Candy Whittenberg, and Rosalie Rockwood, sold over ten slave bonds each.

Barbara Brandon, Gary Boltz, and Sally Haimo look on with surprise as Cheri Jensen opens the "door prize" at the Emancipation Proclamation dance which was given to free all slaves who participated in Slave Labor Week.

Mr. Titus gives Vicki Lewis a few helpful hints on how to sell her slave bonds during "Slave Week".

VARIETY OF DANCES FILL STUDENTS' SOCIAL CALENDAR

Dennis Ingram was crowned Apollo II at this year's "La Festdanski". Dennis, representing the French classes, was crowned by Susie Holman. Jerry Reynolds, Master of Ceremonies, presided over the fete.

At the March of Dimes Benefit, Rich Sabel, Steve Oldroyd, Joanne Nichols, Kay Kirchoff, and Bill Upson seem to be enjoying the game presented by D. J., Lee Smith.

At the Sadie Hawkins dance, "Dogpatch Drag", dancers pause to view the judging of the costumes.

A YEAR FILLED WITH MEMORIES DRAWS TO AN END

1960 proved to be successful to those in Sunset High School, even though it was a young school and lacked a senior class. The spirit and co-operation was exemplified by the participation in such school activities as World Clothing Week, March of Dimes drive, Canned Foods drive, and raising money for the foreign exchange student program. This was Sunset's first year in varsity competition in the Metro League where valuable experience was gained, not only in athletic competition but also in speech tournaments, publications meetings, music clinics, and various activities sponsored by this league. Three hundred sixty students gathered here for the Spring Region III student council conference. Our three publications, The Scroll, Dolphin, and Apollo, were put out with fine student achievement.

The excellent academic program and tremendous activity schedule gave to Sunset a prosperous and flourishing year.
